success by association

Helping you do business more effectively, by bringing the world of water quality to your doorstep.

Since 1928, the Water Environment Federation® (WEF) has been dedicated to working for water quality professionals like you and your coworkers. WEF is a not-for-profit technical and educational organization with more than 34,000 individual members and 75 affiliated Member Associations representing an additional 50,000 water quality professionals throughout the world. WEF and its member associations proudly work to achieve our mission of preserving and enhancing the global water environment.

We offer unparalleled technical education, updates on the latest developments and information, cost-saving opportunities and solutions, as well as access to water quality experts and advocates. It is our goal to help you do business more effectively, by bringing the world of water quality to your doorstep.

Membership means benefits

WEF PERIODICALS

This monthly magazine keeps water and wastewater utility staff, industrial waste managers, consultants, and other interested professionals abreast of current events, trends, and technologies in the water quality field.

WE&T analyzes related regulatory, legal, and political issues; discusses new and effective approaches to wastewater treatment and watershed management; and notes activities in other fields that could affect water quality. Each issue also contains a special section, "Operations Forum," that focuses on the day-to-day concerns of operating and maintaining wastewater treatment facilities. (12 issues)

World Water™ is a bi-monthly publication covering a wide spectrum of the global water and wastewater industry from its source development through treatment, reuse, and disposal technologies. World Water's editorial pages cover the whole spread of information from the latest engineering and technical developments to industry news. Presented in an easily assimilated style, World Water offers today's busy water engineer/executive an overview of what is happening in the world of water supply, distribution and wastewater treatment, globally. (6 issues)

A monthly, peer-reviewed journal, Water Environment Research Online keeps engineers, scientists, academics, and other water quality professionals up to date on the latest research. Articles cover a range of issues, including municipal and industrial treatment methodologies, surface aquatic system assessment, fate and effects of pollutants, residue management, groundwater remediation, and contaminant analysis. Plus, a fully searchable annual Literature Review provides a review of published books and articles on water quality topics from the previous year. (12 issues)

Available as a membership add-on subscription, World Water: Water Reuse & Desalination™ is designed to address the growing informational, technical and operational needs of global water reuse and desalination professionals. The editorial content of World Water:

Water Reuse & Desalination reflects the global outlook, knowledge, and technical expertise of water supply solutions unique to the growing area of reuse and desalination. Editorial content includes potable water and industry reuse issues; seawater desalination; water quality issues in reuse and desalination processes; and the financial, policy, and public acceptance aspects of water reuse and desalination. (4 issues)

Available as a membership add-on subscription, World Water:

Stormwater Management, focuses on current solutions for managing runoff and stormwater flows on municipal, industrial, and commercial lands. Topics include low impact development, green infrastructure, collection and conveyance, drainage systems, erosion and sediment control, water quality monitoring, treatment equipment, and sustainable stormwater harvesting and reuse. Stormwater Management offers water professionals the opportunity to learn about promising research and development initiatives. (4 issues)

WEF NEWSLETTERS

WEF's online membership newsletter covers current Federation activities, Member Association news, and items of concern to the water quality field. WEF Highlights is your source for the most up-to-the-minute WEF news and member information.

A free weekly online newsletter, This Week in Washington brings you timely water quality information from the U.S. EPA and around the globe.

Hosted on the IngentaConnect website, Proceedings of the Water Environment Federation is an archival library of the papers presented at the annual WEF Technical Exhibition and Conference and other conferences. Access available 12 months after the event.

Stormwater Report, available by e-mail as a monthly digest, is a Water Environment Federation news service dedicated exclusively to stormwater news, from green infrastructure to wet weather issues.
